WASHINGTON CITY.

Schurz and Schneider.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary Schurz again pronounces as slanderously untrue the recently repeated story of his borrowing money from Geo. Schneider and then paying the debt by having him appointed to the Swiss mission; says he never had any pecuniary transactions with Schneider and took no part in the movement for his appointment further than to state that he believed him a man of good reputation and business ability.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The following are the postoffice changes on the Pacific Coast: Established—Indian Valley, Union county, Oregon, George Joel Weaver, postmaster. Postmasters appointed—James Miller, Brownsborough, Jackson county, Oregon; Lot Wilber Snohomish, Snohomish county, Washington Territory.

Pisciculture.

During the past spring the U. S. fish commission in connection with the Maryland fish commissioners hatched about 9,000,000 young shad in the Susquehanna river at Degrave, over 1,000,000 of which have already been distributed in Western and Southern waters, and about 1,000,000 now enroute to California for distribution in the waters of that State. Active preparations are also being made for distribution of a large number of salmon eggs and young salmon throughout the country next fall. Over 5,000,000 eggs and young salmon were distributed to various States last fall. A larger number will be sent this season. The principal salmon hatching establishment is on the McCloud river in California. Specles of salmon found in those waters being suitable for Eastern rivers.

Geological Surveys.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Major Powell, U. S. A., in charge of the geological and geographical surveys of Territories, has already sent out five parties, all of which are at work in Utah Territory. A triangulator party under Prof. Thompson is located on the Eastern slope of the Wasatch mountains. Three geographical parties under Buenshaw, Wheeler and Grover are prosecuting their work on the Uintah, Price and Lower Green rivers and the geographical party under Captain Dutton, of the ordnance department of the United States army, is located on the Sevier plateaus. Powell will leave here about the 1st of July for the field, and in the meantime two other parties will be fitted out for work this season, one of which will make a specialty of the subject of irrigation in Utah. It is expected the geographical work in Eastern Utah which has been prosecuted with vigor for some years past will be finished this season.

More Civil Service Talk.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A special agent of the postoffice department, recently appointed from the Southern States by Postmaster General Key, having been assigned a duty which he finds quite arduous and sometimes disagreeable, has written a letter to the department in which he complains of the work to which he has been assigned as I says, when appointed he supposed its duties would be limited to his own State where he could be most useful to the administration and aid his party friends in building up the administration party. He also wrote to the chief special agent and expressed his earnest desire that the matter should be brought to the personal attention of the Postmaster General, believing that he would sustain this view of the case. Judge Key replied in the following letter:

POSTMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, June 15.

Mr. ——, Special Agent—DEAR SIR: Mr. Parker, chief of special agents of this department, has handed me your letter, dated the 10th inst. You certainly labor under a serious misapprehension in the belief that it was my understanding that you were selected by your State only if would not deserve the position I hold were I to make that or a similar understanding. Special agents of the department in the discharge of the service are charged with the important duty of detecting thieves and frauds. A stranger is more likely to succeed in this duty than one who is well known. Hence our agents must often be sent where they are unknown and must go and be ready to go anywhere, as the exigencies of the service may demand. They must often leave the highways of travel and go into the mountains and Territories [illegible] along horseback and stage lines, traveling night and day in rain, sunshine and storm to detect and arrest offenders. Not unfrequently do our agents not sleep one hour in twenty-four. You are alike mistaken in the other matter. You were not appointed to organize and build up an administration party in your State or elsewhere. You were appointed to do work of the Postoffice Department. You serve your party best by doing that work, and I shall take great pleasure in removing an agent and reducing the force when I discover that he has time to attend to party organization and party discipline. We must have no greater force than is necessary to do postoffice work. I will not give special privilege to any agent.

Tru'y, D. M. KEY,
Postmaster General.

Issue of Small Notes.

New York, June 17.—The Times' Washington special says the Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Treasurer to resume the issue of $1 and $2 notes, under certain limitations. Hereafter the Treasury will send notes of these denominations to sub-treasuries and national banks upon requisition, and will pay them out at the cash room of the Treasury in sums not exceeding $10 at one time, and to one individual. The various sub-treasurers will pay these notes out under like limitations. Much of the inconvenience that has been experienced in business circles by suspending the issue of small notes has resulted from the fact that they were hoarded to a large extent with the expectation that they would command a premium. Last week the U. S. disbursing officer made loud complaint because the Treasurer would not issue $1 and $2 notes in paying his warrants, and yet this very officer afterwards admitted he had locked up in his safe over $10,000 in these denominations. Treasury officials believe if the fact of the order suspending the issue of $1 and $2 notes had not been announced in the newspapers, no inconvenience would have resulted to business from the temporary suspension. The Treasury does not now hold any unusual amount in those denominations.

To Oblige Grant.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Tribune's Washington special says ex-Congressman Dockery of North Carolina told some of his friends here he has been promised the appointment of Consul General to London in place of Badeau, who has held the office eight years. Whether his expectations be realized or not it appears certain Badeau will not hold the position much longer. The change would probably have been made before had it not been the wish of the administration to oblige Gen. Grant by leaving his personal friend and old staff officer undisturbed until after he had completed his visit to England. If Dockery be appointed the family rule established by Sherman will be disregarded in the State Department as he has a son who is consul at Leeds.

Wanted too Much.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Private Dalzell of Ohio, after repeated applications for office was appointed to a third-class clerkship the other day. He declined the place because it was not good enough, but believed he made a mistake and supposed a first-class clerkship was the highest grade.

POINTING TO WALLA WALLA.—In Nevada there is a religious sect styled the Morrisites. It is an offshoot of Mormonism, and flourishes to a considerable extent in Carson valley of that State. The Carson News says:

Last summer an ancient pilgrim with long disheveled hair and disgusting appearance, who claimed to be the Prophet Daniel, preached to the Morrisites in Genoa. He informed the credulous Genoese of the second coming of Christ in the person of a child born in Walla Walla, Washington Territory. This tale of the Prophet Daniel made such an impression on R. J. Livingston, an old resident of Genoa, that he recently sold his property and has left for Walla Walla that he may hereafter live and die near Christ. It appears that Livingston is not the only one in Carson valley who is infatuated with this belief, for recently a great exodus from there to Washington Territory has taken place. All of them say they want to live and die near this new Christ.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

The Russian Left.

LONDON, June 17.—The Russian left wing is at Karakilissa with columns at Dyadin, and in the direction of Van.

Guns and Men.

Eleven Krupp guns of 15 centimetres' calibre have arrived at Erzeroum from Trebizond.

The Musselman population of Erzeroum are being called to arms.

Defences of Kars.

Various telegrams from the Turkish side claim that the Turks, by superiority of their artillery fire prevented the Russians from erecting works to attack Kars.

Reported Russian Repulse.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 17.—Telegrams from Muktar Pasha dated the 16th inst. says the Alaskegerds division which started from Delishaba on an offensive reconnoisance in the direction of Taher pass, was attacked by three Russian columns, but repulsed them with heavy loss after five hours' desperate fighting. Mehemet Pasha, commanding the Turks, was killed. The Turks returned to their former positions.

Contradicting Turkish Reports.

LONDON, June 17.—News from Montenegro contradictory of Mehemet Ali's telegraphs under date of Saturday that he defeated the corps of Montenegrins concentrated on the road from Ritchina to Livaraka.

Schavonic advices, via Ragusa, represent that Mehemet Ali has been completely defeated near the river Jalonika. The Montenegrins pursued him and burned all the Turkish villages in Wassojevich district, and that the Turks had been compelled to completely evacuate Montenegrin territory.

The Czar's Health.

LONDON, June 17.—A special from Berlin says the Czar is not well, in consequence of the unhealthy climate of Roumania, and will short y return to Kieff, where preparations are already being made to receive him.

Floods.

Great inundations on the Don and Dnieper are reported from Russia.

Arabs in Arms.

CONSTANTINOPLE, (via Athens) June 17.—There has been a dangerous outbreak of from 15,000 to 20,000 mounted Arabs in the district between Damascus and Aleppo. The country is almost denuded of troops. The Governor of Syria has telegraphed for assistance. Until it reaches him the district will probably be given up to plunder. This, possibly, is the disturbance in Syria reported in the Pera dispatch of June 14th. It was then stated that 20 000 rebel horsemen of the Bedouin tribes had been defeated by Ottoman troops.

Cretan Troubles.

Such uneasiness is felt concerning the state of Crete that six battalions are to be sent there, although wanted elsewhere.

Affairs of Mediation.

Prince Von Reuss has informed Safvet Pasha that he and the German ambassador at St. Petersburg have received instructions to offer the mediation of Germany in the event of either belligerent being desirous of peace. Turkish success in Montenegro and decay of Russian operations have, however, somewhat encouraged the Sultan.

Kashgar Independence.

A special from Calcutta says news from Kashgar seems to show that the ameer is getting the better of the Chinese in eastern Turkestan and points to the probability of peace on the basis of China officially recognizing the independence of Kashgar.

The Syrian Disturbances.

A Berlin correspondent telegraphs that the German war vessels stationed in Turkish waters received orders to proceed to the coast of Syria in consequence of possible disturbances in that quarter.

A Turkish Court Martial.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 17.—The court martial trying officers of the gunboat Seid, which was destroyed by torpedoes in the Danube has concluded its labors. It is believed prisoners will be shot.

Battle between Turks and Montenegrins.

RAGUSA, June 17.—Intelligence is received that there was a sanguinary engagement lasting throughout Saturday between 10,000 Turks and 8,000 Montenegrins at Rasnoglerika. The Turks were defeated and pursued to Shuz, leaving 2,000 dead on the field.

2,000 Turks Killed.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Herald has details of a battle between Turks and Montenegrins in which the former, though greatly superior in numbers, were beaten and routed, leaving 2,000 dead on the field.

Russian War Movements.

LONDON, June 18.—Conflicting accounts come from Roumania. Those who regard the operations as imminent explain the general movement of the Russian troops during the last weeks as a preparatory movement for concentrating the forces hitherto scattered in cantonements. The departure of a portion of the headquarters on the 11th instant from Ploiesti to Alexandria, is regarded as an indication of imminent action. While unusual precautions are taken to prevent any one from approaching the Russian lines, goes to confirm this impression, one account states that all inhabitants have been ordered to withdraw from the shore. Those who believe in this speedy commencement of operations, actually name June 18 as the date on which the first attempt to cross the Danube will be made. From another source usually not less informed it is positively stated a fortnight or so will elapse before the Russians are ready to undertake operations along the whole line owing to the imperfect state of the preparations. These were found so far backward on the Emperor's arrival at Ploiesti that he expressed his displeasure. Despite obstacles caused by rain, it was thought more might have been done if it had not been for want of harmony and co-operation extending to those occupying very high positions. The establishment of magazines close to the Danube, and the collection of bridging materials are particularly considered very backward. Since the Czar's arrival fresh energy has been infused into all preparations, but this at first was somewhat neutralized by various railway break downs. Those who do not believe in immediate operations explain the present great movement of troops by the supposition that the commander-in-chief had reasons to modify his plan and according to the new arrangements. Six of the eight army corps are to be concentrated on the line between Giurgevo and Islatz on the river Aluta. Both opinions are founded on observations on the spot, at Giurgevo. Steam launches have arrived, and a large seige train is being collected. While the 8th, 11th and 12th corps are ready to converge on that point on the Aluta behind Turgumaguerla, the 9th corps is in Galatz waiting, and the 13th is on the march to join it. The 14th corps is in Galatz, but will proceed westward and probably cross about Tchernavoda or Kalarash with the 4th corps. Ostentatious demonstrations are being made in the neighborhood of Braila Reni and Ismail, but imagine they are mostly feints.

LONDON, June 18.—Last evening a force of Russian cavalry marched from Giurgevo to Sabodizi, a Wallachian town on the Yalomitza river, with colors flying and bands playing. The movement was unmolested by Turkish batteries.

Turkish headquarters has ordered all war correspondents at Shumla to obtain permission to remain at the seat of war.

At Rustchuck cannonading is kept up with great spirit. Turkish guns are far superior to Russian in calibre and range.

Bashi Bazouk Outrages.

The Bashi Bazouks are taking advantage of the absence from Constantinople of much of the restraining power, and have been committing all sorts of excesses on persons and property. The suburbs are mostly occupied by persons belonging to mercantile classes in Constantinople who have villas in the surrounding neighborhood, and the disorderly conduct of these semi-savage soldiers keep them in constant alarm. Among those who recently suffered from excesses of Bashi Bazouks are an English army officer and an American naval officer, who were beaten and maltreated by them. This outrage on the part of the Bashi Bazouks is not unlikely to lead to further complications with other governments.

General War Notes.

LONDON, June 17.—A dispatch from Berlin states access to stories of the Danube has been prohibited in many parts of Roumania. One of the forbidden localities is the country about Giurgevo.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 17.—An order has been issued disarming all Bulgarians in the capital from the government telegraph and posta services.

Three years tax in advance are demanded from the rajahs.

A dispatch from Vienna says Baron Von Rodich, governor of Dalmatia, and General Molinar, governor of Croatia and of the military frontier, have arrived at Vienna to take instructions in view of future eventualities. Baron Von Rodich received a dispatch from Varda informing the Porte that Nicsic had been revictualed and said a special division had been organized at Giurgevo under General Scobeleff, to head the column which is to cross the Danube near that point.

The French Senate.

PARIS, June 17.—Le Temps states that of the nine bureaux in the Senate, six favor a dissolution, which it is expected will be voted Monday or Tuesday.

France and the Papacy.

BERLIN, June 17.—The North German Gazette, ministerial organ, contains another article about the relations between papacy and the French monarchical party. It says the latter being unable to dispense with clerical assistance for attainment of domestic purposes such assistance will not be given unless important counter services are rendered. The Pope who recently denounced Germany as the corner stone of the new ungodly division of power in Europe may soon have a million and a half French soldiers at his disposal.

Arrested for Conspiracy.

A special to the Daily News from Alexandria reports that by order of the French consul General Baron Baillon was arrested Saturday at Cairo on account of alleged conspiracy against President MacMahon.

PANAMA, June 9.—Losses by the tidal wave are fully up to first reports. The government is a heavy loser, from 40,000 to 50,000 tons guano having been lost.

PANAMA, June 9.—The Chilian Times of May 16th reports that south of Valparaiso there was no loss of life or destruction of property by the earthquake. Between Valparaiso and the Bolivian frontier the shocks were more severe. At Antofagasta, in Bolivia, no lives were lost, but the damage to property was estimated at half a million. It is said the towns of Celema, Chinchia and San Pedro have entirely disappeared.

The Colombia Revolution.

The last of the revolutionary forces in Colombia has been subdued, Gen. Felipe Farias having sent a commission on the 3d inst., to Gen. Correzo offering to submit to the authority of the nation in conformity with stipulations of the commander-in-chief of the 14th province. The guerilla chief Quintero Calderon also announced his willingness to deliver up his arms, disband his forces and recognize the authority of the government.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A dispatch from Panama says the steamer Georgia arrived at Callao under convoy of the Wilmington on the 11th inst. The former steamer was leaking so badly that it was necessary to bring her in for docking and temporary repairs. On their arrival, the Chilian Minister made application to the Peruvian government to detain the Georgia, as she had left Chili waters, while on her arrest, carrying with her an official who was acting as her custodian. The Peruvian government has honored the request of the Chilian representative and has ordered port officials here to place the Georgia under the guns of the frigate Apurimac.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The annexed article is from a recent number of the Philadelphia Railroad World:

The stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company had a most satisfactory surprise at their recent meeting, in that, instead of being confronted by a directorial scheme to raise money to build and equip the company's branch to coal, they were met with a resolution adopted by the board the day previous, that the revenues of the road had so increased, and were so increasing, as to suffice for the completion of the branch, and to make a resort to a mortgage unnecessary.

The reorganized Northern Pacific Railroad Company has astonishing life and promise. It has, within four months, nearly completed 31 miles of road to an 11-foot vein of the best bituminous coal, for which the Pacific coast market is waiting ready to take all that can be mined. Both divisions of the road earn a surplus; a largely increased area of its lands has been put into "No. 1 spring" wheat, and the promise of traffic from this source this year is great. The country on the line of the road in Minnesota and Dakota is rapidly settling with farmers. The road and its rolling stock are in first-class condition; its transportation on account of the mili ary and Indian departments of the government has greatly augmented; it is already in possession of most of the trade to and from Manitoba, the Upper Missouri, the Yellowstone, and largely that to the Black Hills. Through wise purchase of the majority of the stock of a new corporation which has succeeded to the forfeited franchises and property of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company, the Northern Pacific will this summer complete and control the unfinished road from Watab to Brainerd, shorten its distance to Canada and the Black Hills 100 miles, and save hereafter all competition in its business north and west from Bismarck on the Missouri river.

It needs only the action of Congress extending the time to build the road, to so confirm the credit of this corporation without a debt, and with a profitable line 585 miles long and an enormous landed estate, that it can borrow on favorable terms from time to time all the money it needs. In the truest sense of the term it is a national highway, and the entire nation is interested in its success.

A corporate meeting, which began with resolving to keep out of debt, fitly closed by the stock holders instructing the directors to devise and present to them, at a future meeting, a plan to raise means to extend the road west of the Missouri river into Montana territory.

The Philadelphia Press and the Times are indignant over the forced resignation of Baker, Russian Minister.

Burning Engine Houses.

VALLEJO June 17.—This morning between three and four o'clock the San Pablo engine house, engine, hose cart and all other contents of the building were destroyed by fire. When the fire was discovered the building was almost entirely in flames. The party discovering the flames made an effort to roll out the hose cart which was in front of the engine and close to the door. But it was tied up in such a way that he could not drag it out. Another person attempted to haul it out but was also unsuccessful. There is every evidence that the wholesale destruction of city property was caused by incendiarism. James Dodson's house, adjoining on the east, was quite badly damaged by both fire and water. No insurance. Captain Woods house, on the west side, escaped without injury. The old company disbanded and turned the apparatus over to the city when a new company was formed and the old members reorganized and both applied to the city for the engine when it was given to the new company. A great deal of bad temper was manifested over the action of the city trustees and no other reason can now be conjectured for the incendiarism.

Cause of fire unknown.

Bark Cambridge Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The barkentine Emma Augusta, from Port Gamble has brought to this port the officers and crew of the bark Cambridge, who were found floating about in a boat off Cape Flattery. An extract from the log of the Cambridge is to the effect that the vesse left Port Ludlow with a cargo of lumber, carrying the usual deck load, for this port June 13th. About 10:45 A. M., during a stiff blow, with a heavy cross sea, being then about 15 miles southwest of Cape Flattery, at the entrance of Puget Sound the vessel began leaking, and it was found that her top timbers on the lee side were started. After an unsuccessful attempt to get the vessel before the wind, the crew began throwing over the deck load, when the vessel, evidently waterlogged, with a heavy lurch rolled on her beam and only the deck load breaking adrift and floating up under the masts, prevented her from turning bottom up. The crew managed to get a boat into water on which all escaped except the Chinese cook, who was below at the time the vessel went over and was not seen afterwards. A few hours after the crew were picked up by the Emma Augusta. The Cambridge was a rotten old collin which should have been condemned years ago, owned by N. C. Brooks and about three hundred tons burthen.

RENO, June 17.—The fourth trial of Rover, for the murder of Sharp, at Sulphur mine, Rabbit Hole Mountain, in Humboldt county, April, 1875, has been in progress here since Monday last. The jury retired at 10:30 last night, and at 1 A. M., had agreed upon a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, but not coming into court till six this morning. Rover has had two trials in Humboldt county, and been convicted both times. The Supreme Court granted a new trial and a change of venue to Washington county. He was tried in January, when the jury disagreed. The prisoner was ably defended by Bonnifield, of Winnemucca.

TWELFTH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

MR. P. Schulze, Land Agent for the Oregon and California Railroad Company, has issued the following circular letter, which requires no explanation:

LAND DEPARTMENT O. & C. R. R. CO.,
PORTLAND, June 6, 1877.

DEAR SIR: We contemplate exhibiting at the Twelfth Industrial Exhibition, to be held at San Francisco during the months of August and September of the current year, a collection of Oregon products similar to the Centennial exhibit, which has proved so much credit to our State, and respectfully request your assistance in this undertaking. You are no doubt aware of the fact that our neighbors in California are doing much injury to our State by impressing upon intending Oregon immigrants their erroneous ideas of the resources and climate of Oregon, thus deterring them from coming here. To meet these unreasonable prejudices, it seems to us, there will be nothing more effective, than to place before the people of California a complete collection of the varied products of our State, and show that they are unequaled anywhere.

Should this meet your views, I would respectfully request you to send us specimens of grains and grasses in sheaf, vegetables, flax, fruit, wool, timber, and articles manufactured from them.

Articles left at any railroad station, addressed to the undersigned, will be forwarded free of charge. Any reasonable expenses incurred in collecting and packing samples will be paid.

As the exhibition opens on the 7th day of August, it is desirable that articles intended for exhibition should reach Portland before July 31st. Fruit will be received after that date and sent to San Francisco on every steamer during the continuance of the exhibition.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1877.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

For a long time silver was a stable commodity, and the silver dollar of standard weight and fineness was at a slight premium as compared with gold. On this basis the two metals could be used together without serious inconvenience. But within the last two or three years there have been the most remarkable variations in the price of silver, produced in part by the larger supply, and in part by the action of nearly all commercial countries in demonetizing the coin. The silver dollar never entered very largely into the monetary circulation of this country, partly because of its bulk and inconvenience, and partly because it was worth up to 1873 an average of 103 cents in gold. But in the markets of the world the quantity of silver in the American dollar is now worth 93 or 95 cents. Relatively, therefore, the dollar of our fathers is not the dollar it used to be. But a silver dollar can undoubtedly be made which will be worth 100 cents in gold—if they put silver enough into it.

No act of Congress can give the old silver dollar the value it once had, because a universal law regulates the price of silver as of every other commodity in the world. If the old silver dollar should be made an unlimited legal tender and the standard of value, then all other commodities to be exchanged for it, including every description of merchandise, would be advanced in price to correspond with the depreciation of silver. The law is invariable. They who demand that the silver dollar of the old standard shall be made a legal tender for all purposes and that its free coinage shall again be authorized with a view to restoring it to the place it occupied formerly, take no note of the changing conditions of financial and commercial affairs throughout the world. Adam Smith has long shown that the relative value of gold and silver, as of all other commodities, is determined chiefly by the amount of labor which is necessary to produce them; and this principle applied to the present state of silver shows that the cheapness of this metal is a direct result of the diminished cost of producing it and its greater abundance as compared with former times.

But silver is not to be thrown altogether out of circulation. Its convenience for use in small sums over any other coinage is universally acknowledged. If there be too great disparity between the values of silver and gold, that can be adjusted by slightly increasing the weight of silver coins to correspond with the relative value of the gold standard. Silver is quotable in certain quantities at certain prices. No silver coins that contain less proportion of the metal can be made by statute equal in value to gold. A law higher than any statute fixes the relations of things. Silver coins in small sums will pass unchallenged under the customs of trade; but in larger sums they must submit to the regulations of the universal market. The craze on this subject in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois seems something like that which prevailed in regard to the greenback a few years ago. A loud demand is raised that the old silver dollar shall be restored, and that all debts shall be made payable with it. Especially is it demanded that it shall be used in payment of the national debt. All this, of course, is in consequence of the depreciation of silver. Formerly it was cheaper to pay debts in gold, and then payment in silver was not insisted on as a privilege. Now, and for the first time in the history of the country, it is found that debts can be paid more cheaply in silver; and the cry for cheap money once more perplexes the politicians, whose minds are divided between a desire to court popularity and political success, and a knowledge that there is latent mischief in a proposition to run counter to recognized laws of demand and supply.

The matter is treated sensibly by Secretary Sherman, who tries to establish a mean between two extremes. In his system gold must be the standard, but silver may circulate in small sums and under restrictions and limitations prescribed by customs of trade. The statutes on the subject should be made to correspond as nearly as may be with the known existing conditions of silver and its altered relations with gold. The basis of currency should always be stable as possible. Silver has not this stability. It is a quality which belongs to gold in a far higher degree, and accordingly gold is the recognized standard the world over. A double standard is practicable in so far as it receives the sanction of business customs, and no farther.

COMPARATIVE GRAIN TRADE.

A report comes through the United States consul at Odessa which shows that America is steadily crowding Russia out of the English grain market. By a committee of the Board of Trade of Odessa on the subject of competition between Russia and the United States in supplying grain to England, a report is presented which gives statistics of the relative loss of this trade to Russia and gain to the United States, and adds the following comments:

The above figures are in the highest degree instructive. They show that we have changed positions with the United States. She has won our former position in the English market and we must be satisfied with quite a secondary position. What they chiefly prove, however, is the regular progressive movement in America. We cannot, therefore, hope that a prosperous harvest may turn the scale in our favor and restore us to our former position; but we must believe that the United States will yet take a higher position among the grain producers of the world.

Future prospects are also discussed in the report, and the advantage possessed by the United States is thus conceded:

It is impossible to calculate the amount of grain which America will be able to export, and which will render her so completely the controller of the London market that we shall be utterly unable to compete with her. The cheapness and fertility of her virgin soil, her favorable climate, the high class of her agriculture, the substitution of machinery for human labor, the spirit of enterprise, and the aptitude of the Americans for organization, are so many proofs that our fears are well founded.

Forwarding these statements to Washington, the consul adds important observations of his own, in which he expresses his belief that "Russia cannot longer compete with us in the grain markets of the world, and that for reasons almost too numerous to mention. The system of agriculture practiced by the Russians is the most miserable possible, their labor the most ignorant, and, as it is managed, the most worthless; their devotion to ways of bygone days so steadfast that in many places they are yet managing as did their Tartar forefathers and predecessors." Russia has always been our principal competitor. For a wheat-growing region like our Pacific slope this information from that country will possess the highest interest and value.

Senator Dawes, supporting Hayes' policy, said the time had come when the Republican party had to change its medicine or buy its coffin.

THE INDIAN OUTBREAK.

News from the scene of Indian difficulties in Idaho Territory is of very startling character. Owing to the confused and somewhat conflicting nature of the reports there is some reason to hope they are exaggerated; but it is evident that the situation is very grave. Experience with Indians elsewhere since improved firearms came into use, as in the conflicts with the Modocs and Sioux, gives much reason to fear that the reports as to the slaughter of troops are too true. It is certain that many settlers have been murdered. Particulars are given which render it painfully sure that the usual horrors of these savage outbreaks are in this case repeated. It is another incident in the experience of two hundred and fifty years with the savage races of this continent.

The Indians engaged in this murderous outbreak are detached portions of the Nez Perces who have always refused to recognize the treaty obligations which have been accepted by the larger part of the tribe. Great annoyance has resulted to the settlers from the presence of these scattered bands and their proclivity to roam at will over a wide range of country. Representations to government at last procured an effort to induce them to remove to the reservation. A month ago they agreed to do so, and pressure to compel them to keep the agreement seems to be an immediate cause of this outburst of savage ferocity. The final result will be a thorough settlement of a troublesome question; but it is deplorable, indeed, that it must be reached through the massacre of families and the slaughter of some of the country's best men.

To the dispatches received we need add no comment. They tell plainly of a great calamity. It is always easy to be wise after the fact, and to tell how an atrocity like this ought to have been foreseen and prevented. But it has been the experience of every part of our country since settlers first came in contact with the Indians at Jamestown.

Settlers in the vicinity of the present outbreak will concentrate at a few points as rapidly as possible for mutual protection. One of the principal places will be Lewiston. Whatever help can be furnished should go forward immediately. An appeal is made for arms, which should be responded to in some way at once. It would be well for citizens of Portland to call a meeting, or devise some other way to take action to render such assistance as can be given. If so great a success as that reported has been gained by the Indians over Colonel Perry's command, there may be danger that the hostile bands will be reinforced by reservation Indians, or others who may be discontented, and waiting simply for opportunity and the encouragement to engage in the murderous business. Any action that can be taken should therefore be prompt, that the people who are in peril may be furnished with means to defend themselves. The appeal is of the most urgent character, and should not be neglected an hour. Whatever is done must be so managed as to meet the movements of boats on the upper river, and conference will be necessary to arrange it.

THE ELECTION YESTERDAY.

Voters put in their ballots yesterday with a good deal of discrimination. Party lines were ignored by large numbers. The contest for police commissioner was the main feature of the election, and the result was decided mainly on this issue. It was simply a contest for or against the present chief; and whatever resentment, discontent or disappointment has been gathering force for some years, discharged itself yesterday in the demand for a change. This fact exerted a controlling influence on the whole election. Mr. Newbury's vote is, however, a flattering evidence of his popularity, and of the confidence of the people in him. The whole result shows that it was a vote for men more than for party, although some very good men were unsuccessful. It was a very quiet day, and the vote thrown was short of the whole vote of the city from five to seven hundred. Democrats were quite demoralized, and did not support their ticket with general earnestness and unanimity, and the fruits of this may tell hereafter on their political fortunes in the city and county. How much independent voting there was may be understood by careful comparison of the result on several candidates. Most people will be glad that a contest is now ended which has been made by some of the participants unnecessarily personal and acrimonious.

The general agent of the Oregon and California Stage Company at Yreka, in a letter referring to the overland mails and the Oregonian's comments on the manner in which they are managed, says the company expects to carry the newspaper mails overland, and if it does not the fault lies with the route agents who make up the mails. The company does not claim, the agent says, to have been released by the department's order from carrying newspapers, but from transporting merchandise, books, etc. It follows, then, that the order procured from the department is either so loosely worded that the officers of the postal service have a right to interpret it so as to exclude the newspapers, or that they lack intelligence for the performance of their duty. Meantime all newspapers continue to come by steamer. The agent at Yreka writes that during the last two years the mails overland have doubled in bulk.

Rev. John Stevens Cabot Abbott, whose death is announced, was a very prolific author. His first book, The Mother at Home, was published in 1833, since which time he has been almost constantly before the public with works of various descriptions. The book above named has run through very many editions in this country, has been translated into every written language of Europe, and republished even in Asia and Africa. Of his laudatory Life of Napoleon there has been great variety of opinion. The execution is clever, but the canonization of the Emperor is a mistake, the direct opposite of that which has frequently painted him as a monster of wickedness. Abbott's Civil War in America is a book of considerable value. Latterly he has been engaged on a Life of Frederick the Great. He reached the age of seventy-two.

It has been a week or two since we published that article in which the writer offered to prove Tony a thief; and now Tony thinks the matter is partially forgotten and is putting on some of his airs again. This is a good deal of cheek for a man who is declared by his own witness to have escaped the penitentiary by running away from California.

There are numerous propositions for the reduction of the army. One of the latest is a plan prepared by a prominent officer to be submitted to Congress, which reduces the whole force to 16,000 men. It also proposes a large permanent camp of instruction, where each regiment and battery shall serve in turn for a period of at least one year.

A cave occurred last Thursday in the Seattle coal mines by which one man was instantly killed and two others seriously injured. The persons injured are James Welsh and R Reese. The deceased, James Wilkins, was a native of Wales, 18 years of age.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES!

DR. M. S. SASSARETH.

THIS VERY DISTINGUISHED FRENCH OCULIST, (of over 30 years experience), arrived here on the steamer of the 6th inst., and is now stopping at Room No. 1, St. Charles Hotel, where he will remain until the 21st of June. His office hours are from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Consultation free.

One of the leading papers of Indiana says of Dr. Sassareth: "He is without doubt a very scientific man, who has thoroughly studied the eye, and fully understands all the diseases and defects to which it is subject. He treats the eye, removes all obstructions, and performs the most difficult operations when necessary; but the best remedy he furnishes for the defective eyesight is the most perfect glasses we ever saw. Looking through a pair of his glasses is like having a pair of new eyes. The pleasure and ease so can only be realized by actual trial. These glasses are made upon the most scientific principle, and there are not only just what is needed but so perfect that the person using them is scarcely aware that any glasses at all are before his eyes. Dr. S. has treated most successfully a number of our leading citizens, and we notice that he is patronized by the best informed people wherever he goes."

Dr. Glick, an eminent physician, writes as follows to Dr. Sassareth: "Having enjoyed the use of your eye glasses, as adapted to my eyes by you in person, I feel that I would be derelict in my duty to those similarly afflicted as I am, if I did not make this acknowledgement of gratitude to you. My glasses, both for reading and walking, give me entire satisfaction."

Says the Delphi (Indiana) Journal: "We are exceedingly cautious in recommending traveling physicians, yet when we find one whose talents and skill are endorsed by the best medical men in the State, we feel that we run no risk in presenting him in the most favorable light. We have just met one whom we can certainly endorse. We allude to Dr. Sassareth, an eminent French Oculist, who is very highly recommended by Dr. Fitch of Logansport, Drs. Glick, O'Farrell and other physicians of Lafayette, and scores of the best citizens of both places."

The South Bend Register speaks of us of the great skill of Dr. Sassareth: "He is a very scientific oculist and thoroughly understands the delicate organism of the eye. * * * He has treated with the most gratifying results a number of our leading citizens, including ex Vice President Colfax."

A. P. Palmer, a prominent member of the City Bank of Albany, New York, says: "It is a great pleasure in referring to the time about five years ago; when you furnished me with the first eye glasses I ever had occasion to use, and to bear testimony to the correctness of your judgment in the selection of those so admirably adapted to my sight."

DR. SASSARETH expects to remain only about a fortnight in Portland. His time is limited, and those who wish to consult him should call early. He can be seen every day between 9 o'clock A. M. and 5 P. M.

AMUSEMENTS.

ST. JAMES THEATER.—In the Eccentric Comedy of London a bet was made between two members of the club, the substance of which is that one Phileas Fogg (Mr. Edwin Bert) will make the "Tour of the World in 80 days." In case he should consummate the feat within the specified time he would win a large sum of money. He was well provided with letters of credit to cover expenses. Fogg commits before Fogg's departure, one Passepartout, a Frenchman, (Mr. J. A. Herne) by name, on the scene and demanded satisfaction for some affair concerning a clock. This is to be settled in short order by a duel with pistols. The Americans wounded determines upon following the Englishman and get even. John Patrick, (Mr. John Ryan) accompanies Fogg as valet. About the time during bank robbery is perpetrated by Detective Fix (Mr. H. M. Brown) an Englishman, bearing of the departure of a man with a large sum of money, conceives the idea of following Fogg, being under the impression that he is the robber, and takes passage on the same vessel. The first tableau finds the party on the Suez Canal. Here Fogg loses the clock again with Fogg, and rescues. The party depart for India, where they meet with two beautiful Indian ladies, Aouda (Miss Bush) and Ayeesha (Miss Abbott), who are to be sacrificed according to a custom. Fogg and Bennett rescue the girls, and Patrick joins them at Hong Kong at a critical moment, and the party, who agree to follow them in the hour. They next turn up in Calcutta, where Fix endeavors to detain them by a trial of cunning at the play progresses different scenes appearing as a priest. Fogg gives the party depart for America. Here Fix, by the energetic secret broker, gives them an expensive lesson in the stock. Fix turns up as a Chinaman, in the following scene as an Irishman, where he meets Patrick in a saloon where he hopes to get Patrick to fall asleep, and make his escape. He obtains possession of the money entrusted by Fogg to the care of Patrick. Upon discovering his loss, Benson, Patrick comes in and Patrick explains. Bennet makes up the loss, and the party appear on the plains, the train having stopped at a point where it appeared to be prowling. While here Fix, who have continued the journey, are captured by the Indians. A day is lost in order to rescue them. We next see the tours on the bound for Bordeaux. Detective Fix in disguise of a negro, discharge the money taken from the bank. Finding that the robber is at that port will not enable him to get to London in time, Fogg buys the Captain and orders on all sail of course for Liverpool. An explosion and all are saved. The next train to Liverpool. Fogg informs Fix that Bennett figures out by which he is in time that Fogg has one day to spare. Fix arrests for the robbery. Fogg arrives minutes to late for the train, but learning to the rescue by announcing the robber, and sends Fogg, off. A letter from Fix states that he should make proceedings, the robber having confessed. This of course settles Bennett's affairs, and Fix subsides. Fogg reaches London in the nick of time, and having won his bet, besides the affections of Aouda, Bennett wins Ayeesha, and Patrick and Fix win Nancy (Nellie Deaves) and Passepartout is. The characters generally well assumed. Space will not permit us to criticize. John Maguire assumed the character on short notice. J. A. Herne as Passepartout Deaves come again to us and his place is filled by E. C. White. The play will exceed and the play ran very smoothly. The audience seemed greatly pleased and a run for the play may be anticipated. Another performance this evening.

EAST PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

Rev. C. Devrich, of Hillsboro, preached in the M. E. church of East Portland Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cully are happy over their twin babies—a boy and girl. When one week old these babies weighed ten pounds each. These bring the number of their children up to fourteen.

The "Eagles," of East Portland, were somewhat worsted in a base ball game with the "Pedros," of Mt. Tabor, at the latter place on Saturday last. As the usual test is the best two out of three, the "Eagles" still have a chance.

Saturday afternoon little Ocea L. Gray, aged four years, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Wm. P. Gray, of East Portland, was laid away to rest in Lone Fir Cemetery, after the beautiful and impressive church service conducted by Rev. M. Wrixon.

Raspberries in large quantities and of splendid quality are making their appearance in the markets. Price began at ten cents per pound. Probably the ruling price will not go much below five cents. Vegetables of all kinds are plentiful and cheap.

Miss Gussie Rinehart, organist in St. David's church, East Portland, will leave this morning on a visit to her aunt in Idaho, where she expects to spend the summer. Miss Rinehart has been making her home with Mrs. J. C. Hawthorne, and will be greatly missed.

The largest new potatoes reported this season are from the beautiful farm of Hon. J. M. Scott, on the banks of the Columbia, eight miles from this city. Mr. Scott has cultivated this farm for over six years, literally making a wild and desert place rejoice and bloom as the rose.

Mrs. Barlow, who has been quite seriously ill for some time, at her sister's, Mrs. Prof. Francis, Mt. Tabor, has so far recovered under the skilful treatment of Dr. R. S. Parker, that she will start to-morrow for her home in California. The best wishes of many friends will go with her.

About one hundred and fifty persons attended the Sunday school picnic at Mt. Tabor on Saturday last. All went in the good old style of wagons and on horseback. They had a general good time, with many innocent diversions and some profitable exercises. The addresses of Messrs. Daniels, Rosenthal and Gay were excellent.

One mile this side of the residence of Hon. J. M. Scott, near the Columbia Slough, one of the finest possible views may now be had of Mt. Hood. The high waters of the Columbia make a beautiful lake for the foreground, back of which rise successively range after range of hills and mountains until the base of the great snow monarch is reached, from whence he just begins his amazing ascent toward the skies.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES.

What is the most precious jewel to the average human, who has been furnished with a good pair of optics, and has availed himself of the same to carry him safely through this "vale of tears?" It is his eyesight. How many suffer on through life with defective vision, simply because the opportunity has not been afforded him to consult a man who has devoted himself to that particular branch of study. That excuse, however, can no longer be indulged in, for there is in this city an optician, Dr. M. S. Sassareth of New York, who has given his life to this study. He comes with the highest recommendations from abroad, and has similar ones from California, ascribing to him the perfect understanding of the subject. As an oculist, Dr. Sassareth is perfect.

The eye, the most delicate portion of the human organism, like other portions of the system, is subject to vicissitudes. Many people are troubled with defective eyesight and resort to various means for relief. When the eyes are affected in any way the greatest care should be taken of them, and none but those of recognized ability should be consulted in regard to them. We have in our midst today a gentleman of culture and refinement who has made a life study of optics. He is acquainted with all the changes and conditions of the eyes and thoroughly competent to treat them. We allude to Dr. Sassereth of New York. The doctor is well known in this vicinity, as in all other portions of the country, and has testimonials from many of the most prominent physicians and surgeons in this country and in Europe. A visit will soon convince the most skeptical of the statements here made. The writer of this article has used Dr. Sassereth's glasses and knows whereof he speaks, and has no hesitation in saying that they are the best he has ever met with. Many of our prominent citizens have been fitted with these glasses, which are made on scientific principles, and in no case have they been dissatisfied. He first examines the eye carefully, and then hands you a pair of glasses perfectly adapted for your use, and all this in less than five minutes. His parlors are at No. 8 St. Charles Hotel, where he can be found from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Reduction in sewing machines. The Singer Manufacturing Company have this day announced a large reduction in prices, as will be seen by referring to our advertising columns. They now offer the new family machine at $50. This places the sewing machine within the reach of all, and we predict that their sales under the new price will be largely increased. They have agents in nearly every county in Oregon and Washington Territory, and still are starting new agents. Portland office, cor. First and Yamhill streets.

Fine fashionable dress and business suits, at bedrock prices, at Kohn's clothing palace, corner of First and Morrison streets.

The Medical Institute of Dr. W. L. Adams, corner of First and Salmon streets, will be removed to Hood river in a few months. Till then chronic diseases of men and women will be treated in Portland as usual. An accomplished lady assistant to give baths to ladies and assist in their treatment always in the office.

EAST OF THE CASCADES.

From a friend who returned Saturday evening last to this city after a two weeks' trip through Eastern Oregon, Washington Territory, east of the Cascades, and North Idaho, we learn that all the white settlers scattered over that vast country are in view of their good prospects for the future, happy, hopeful and contented. Particularly it is observed that in Whitman county, W. T., and Nez Perce county, Idaho, have doubled their population within the last year, and that a corresponding increase of population is almost certain for each of several years to come. The counties referred to are particularly a grain producing region of vast extent.

Heretofore there has not been encouragement to raise grain, but now, by reason of the enhanced price of wheat, and a liberal reduction made by the O. S. N. Co. in the price of freighting the same out of the country and for the further reason that dealers have shown a commendable enterprise in shipping into the country an abundant supply of agricultural machinery, it now seems certain that from this time forward the principal production of that section heretofore used almost exclusively for grazing will be wheat and other grain growing. As an evidence of the great change in this particular, it is safe to say that already this season there have been more wagons, agricultural implements and harvesting machines shipped into that eastern and northern country than was imported in any one year previous to six years ago into all this country north of the California and Oregon State line. The business of sheep raising and wool growing is rapidly increasing in all that country, as appears from the increased amount of wool exported therefrom and also the amount of flax seed from there shipped this year indicates that product is worthy of consideration.

Making due allowance for the short space of time in which so much has been accomplished in that country by so sparse a population the character of the people for determination and patient industry is entitled to the same high praise that legitimately belongs to that country—a country of which it can truthfully be said, in natural advantages is second to none in the world. It is observable also among those people settling there that the same regard for schools, churches and all facilities for general intelligence and improvement is as high among them as characterizes the American people everywhere.

At the close of the U. S. District Court at Colfax on the 14th inst., an impromptu meeting was called to consider the importance, feasibility and practicability of starting a county newspaper at that place, and at that meeting of two hours' continuance, by donations and subscriptions mostly paid down, a sum of money sufficient to warrant the successful commencement of the proposed paper was guaranteed.

MORTON INTERVIEWED.

Senator Morton, who will leave San Francisco to morrow on the steamer Dakota for Portland, via Victoria, was interviewed in that city a few days ago. A reporter, armed with pencil and note book, called on the distinguished son of Indiana to obtain some information from him concerning the investigation about to take place in Oregon. The Senator, assisted by his wife, was engaged in entertaining a number of callers when the reporter entered, but he at once accorded the desired interview, professing his willingness to answer any question that he with propriety might.

"In what part of Oregon will the investigation take place?"

"That is not yet determined upon."

"Will the committee move about instead of summoning all the witnesses to one point?"

"Very probably it will, although it is possible that its sittings will be confined to either Portland or Salem, or to both of those places."

"Will not the same witness, or nearly the same, as testified during the investigation into the electoral count of Oregon last winter in Portland be summoned in this investigation?" "No; the papers have fallen into the error that I perceive is quite general in the East, that the investigation is connected with the electoral count. It has no direct connection with it, and Cronin will not be required again."

"Then the investigation is something entirely apart from the electoral count affair, and the committee does not purpose to make any inquiries into Grover's alleged crookedness in this connection?"

"The investigation will have nothing to do with this. That point was carried in Washington. The inquiry grows out of a resolution introduced by Senator Grover in the Senate during the last session."

"What cause Grover to make a demand for an investigation?"

"A number of memorials from citizens of Oregon were presented to the Senate by Senator Mitchell of that State, alleging certain irregularities in connection with Grover's election to the United States Senate by the Legislature of Oregon, and Senator Grover asked for the inquiry to relieve himself of the charges."

"What is the nature of the irregularities charged in the memorial?"

"Substantially bribery and corruption by Senator Grover in procuring his election to the United States Senate."

"What would be the result if this were established?"

"It will not do to speak about that until after the committee has finished its work."

"Have you had occasion to change your views on Hayes' policy of reconciliation since the publication of your letter?"

"I said about all I have to say for the present in the letter. Nothing has happened to make a material change in my sentiments since its appearance."

After learning further that the investigation would in all probability be open to the public the reporter took his leave.

Girls have their sorrows and their troubles, but nothing is more humiliating to the average young lady than to be beaten at a game of croquet by a girl who still wears her last year's dress.

The American People.

No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. A though years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, Waterbrash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, &c., yet since the introduction of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 30,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular Size 75 cents. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1877.

"OF SUCH IS LOVE."

BY SUSAN COOLIDGE.

Love me for what I am—love not for sake,
Of some imagined thing which I might be.
Some brightness or some goodness not in me,
But seen afar by you as eyes that wake
Dream at dawn before the dawning break.
If I so please you (whom I fain would please).
Reset myself like new key to old tune,
Chained thought remodeled action, pretty soon
My hand would slip from yours, and by degrees
The loving, fault-finding no one sees to-day,
Would vanish, and another in her place,
A stranger with a stranger's scruples,
A new regard, an unfamiliar face.
Love me for what I am, then if you may;
But, if you cannot—love me either way.

RED WINE—A TRUE STORY.

It was growing dark in the city streets; men and women hurried along, as if eager to reach comfortable homes; the horses seemed to pull heavy wagons with more willingness than usual, as if they, too, knew that the day's work was over, and enjoyed the prospect of rest. The lamplighters were busy going their rounds, and trying to make up for the lost daylight. Little children were safe and warm at home.

All but one, perhaps. A little boy stood on the deserted sidewalks, close to a great window of plate glass, through which he gazed with a rapt face. The picture which he looked at was a beautiful one. A great room with a painted ceiling overhead, and a chandelier which seemed to make real sunshine. The walls were covered with fine paintings. A marble table, heaped with delicious food, stood near the center of the room. The bright light struck through the great decanter, and made a big crimson stain on the white hand of a gentleman who sat at the table reading a newspaper. A large diamond ring on one finger seemed to wink and blink at the little boy outside. "I wish he would look up!" the child was thinking.

But though he waited and watched, the man did not move for a long time. Then he flung the paper down, and reached out the hand with the diamond for a wine glass, which he filled and drank, never once looking toward the window.

"Please, sir."

That was all the boy said. He had stepped from the street into the wide hall; then, without stopping to knock, he had opened the great door which led into the gentleman's room. On the threshold of the saloon he stopped, frightened at what he had done.

"What is it, my small man?"

Arthur Leonard had a pleasant smile, which came easily to his handsome face; but the child shrank back, although he looked into the big brown eyes as if he saw something there he had been looking for a great while.

"You came to beg, I suppose?" and the gentleman's hand went readily into his pocket.

"Oh, no, sir, I never thought of that—I wanted—I mean—please, sir, I will go now?"

He moved back awkwardly, but Mr. Leonard stopped him with a gesture. The child's face interested him. His manner, too, at first so eager, now so embarrassed, had aroused his curiosity.

"You are cold," he said, noticing that the child shivered and that his garments were thin and poor.

He rose, took the boy by the hand and led him to the grate fire which was dancing on the hearth—a big, jolly fire, which seemed trying to light up the room and make the chandelier notice how big and bright it was.

Mr. Leonard did not seem to think it queer for a poor little boy with patched clothes to sit in one of the crimson satin arm-chairs big enough for a throne. He drew up one for himself opposite.

"Are you hungry?" he asked. "I will give you something to eat, and a little wine will warm you up."

"Oh, no, sir," and the child shrank further back into a big chair.

"You will tell me your name, at least?"

"Yes, sir. My name is Eddie Boynton, and I am ten years old."

"Ah!"

Mr. Leonard was smiling now, as he saw the boy's courage coming back.

"You will not be angry with me, sir?"

"Angry! why in the world should I be angry with you?"

"I didn't know but you might, sir, if I said what I wanted to."

"Never fear, Eddie, I am anxious to know what you have to tell me."

The little boy stretched his little thin hands, red with cold, out toward the glowing fire, and said:

"I work in the dye-house now, and get a good deal of money—a dollar a week."

Mr. Leonard could hardly help laughing. The wine he had offered the child cost more than that.

"I come past this big window every night on my way home. I shan't come again, though, because we're going to move away. I like to look in here because it is so warm and pleasant, and because you are sitting here and have eyes just like my father's."

"What a strange child!" Mr. Leonard was thinking.

"He was so handsome and tall," went on the little fellow, looking back into the firelight. "He wore nice clothes, too, like yours; and we lived in a great big house, most as big as this. I used to sit next to him at the table, and he gave me it out to drink," pointing to the wine glass. "Mother would cry sometimes, but he would kiss her, and tell her that good wine would make me strong and handsome. One day he went away for a long time, and mother cried all the time he was gone. When he came back he struck her, and then fell down on the floor. I screamed, because I thought he was dead. The black man, who drove the horses, came up and helped mother to get him to bed. She said he was sick. He used to scream and fight if any one went near him. It was the red wine that made him so, mother said. And then one night he died, and there was a great funeral. After that mother packed up our clothes, and went to live where she could earn some money. We've only got two little rooms now. Mother sews on a machine. Sometimes she cries all night, I guess."

He had been talking very fast, but stopped suddenly.

Mr. Leonard moved uneasily.

"This was what you wanted to tell me?"

"Yes, sir. Ever time I come by the window and see you sitting here, you make me think of my father, and I wondered if you had any little boy at home, and how he and his mother would feel if you should die of the red wine." And then the tears came and Eddie Boynton slid down from the big chair and stood beside Mr. Leonard, who had turned his face away. Eddie wondered if the gentleman was crying, too. He could not see the big brown eyes, for his head was drooping upon his breast.

"I'm going now, sir. Mother will have my supper all ready, and be frightened if I don't come." And before Mr. Leonard roused from his painful reverie, the child had slipped from the warm, cheery room, and was running down the dark street, home to his waiting mother.

In all the years to come, Arthur Leonard and Eddie Boynton, man and boy, may never meet again. The room in the luxurious club-house is deserted; the fire is out, the room is dark, the heavy curtain drawn at the big window; but in a beautiful home the brown eyes look lovingly at a sweet woman, and to the rosy boy that hangs about his neck, the father whispers, "God bless you, my child, and keep us from the destruction of the red wine."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, June 18, 1877.

Gold in New York, 100%.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 94; selling 95.

Silver Coin—4½@5 per cent. discount.

The day, though not a business holiday, has been mainly devoted to election matters and financial and trade concerns have been generally very quiet with no change of any importance to note.

While business men in nearly all departments on this Coast are making a good many complaints about the dull times, we cannot believe that the condition here is near so bad as it appears to be in some of the principal trade centers in the Mississippi valley. The Journal of Commerce describing the situation in Chicago, says: "Few remember an opening June when money in the banks was more plenty or when food, clothing and fuel were more abundant and yet more difficult to obtain by the masses. Bankers report increasing deposits, and loanable funds in abundance, and yet at the same time more caution and circumspection are exercised by bankers in discounting a note than at any preceding period. Bankers are anxious for customers but they require assurances and proofs of ability and promptness to take up notes when due that scarcely ever before characterized ordinary financial transactions. Indeed the fact can neither be hid nor disguised that trade is exceedingly dull. Traders from the country purchase with the greatest care and show the slightest inclination to risk anything on speculation. Orders come in with some regularity and freedom, but they are for goods that are very sure to be in demand. The chief comfort and satisfaction in such times are the discipline afforded for that golden period so long promised when we shall obtain, not a fortune, yet a satisfactory competency."

The Wool Market.

We may now be said to be about in the midst of the wool season and receipts are now quite large. Several important transactions have been made of which one is noted at Seattle of 30,000 pounds at the rise of twenty-six cents per pound. The shearing is about over and the result is reported to be most gratifying to growers, while dealers are much more lavish in their commendations of the quality than ever before. The superiority of the Oregon product is still noticed in the Eastern markets and in a wool circular just received from New York we see that while the highest quotations for California wool are 23@25c, and the lowest 12@17c, the highest for Oregon are 30@33c, and the lowest 27@33c, a remarkably wide difference in favor of this part of the coast.

The same circular above quoted, in speaking of the condition of the Eastern markets says "they are but slightly stocked; old wools are being cleaned out," and adds:

It was thought that the advance in breadstuffs would cause farmers to hold their wools for higher prices, but we are satisfied that they now intelligently understand the position of the market, and will dispose of their clips when the price is established. The times call for the exercise of care and judgment on the part of the buyer. The day for great profits is past, and unless coolness is observed, the coming season will reduce the capital of some of the Argonauts in search of the golden fleece.

In the home market the quotations remain a about the same figures given last week with a good deal of firmness, and for choice large lots a small advance might be obtained. Latest telegraphic advices from the East indicate a tolerably active trade at rates rather appreciating than otherwise.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS

OF

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past one and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from then beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; it at some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a month's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and lachrymatory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Yours Truly, JOHN BALLARD.
Employed at Co man's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]
PAUL M. BRENAN.

Dr. Brenan can be consulted, free of charge, at his office at the Clarendon Hotel, from 10 to 12 A. M., and at rooms 6 and 7 in Corbett's Block, corner of Front and Washington streets, Portland, Oregon, from 1 to 5, and 7 to 8 P. M.

PRATT'S

MINERAL

OIL.

300° FIRE TEST.

Chas. Pratt & Co., New York,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers.

To Consumers of High Fire-Test Mineral Oils.

YOUR ATTENTION IS PARTICULARLY INvited to our 300° Fire-Test Oil, called "Pratt's Mineral Colza Oil," which we are now manufacturing expressly for STEAMSHIP, RAILROAD and MILL ILLUMINATION, or for use where an exceedingly high Fire-Test Oil is required. It has already been adopted by many of the Railroads throughout the country, and by most of the coastwise steamers sailing from New York, whose continuance of its use in preference to all similar Oils is sufficient commendation as to its quality. It will not burn or sell in the Ordinary Petroleum Lamp, it being of too heavy gravity for such use; but in the German Student Lamp and those with double wick burners, we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction producing a pure flame of great brilliancy. Our facilities for manufacturing are excellent, and equal to any demand, while the price is much lower than that of any oil in the market of the same character and fire test. The U. S. law in regard to the use of these Oils on passenger steamers is very explicit, as follows:

"Any Oil which will stand a Fire Test of Three Hundred (300°) Degrees Fahrenheit, may be carried as freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers."

We beg to offer the following Certificates, which have been handed us from the very best authorities obtainable, in regard to the test of the Mineral Colza Oil, and they may be considered perfectly reliable:

Report of Prof. S. Dana Hayes, Massachusetts State Assayer.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 19th, 1876

[COPY.]

A sample of burning Oil marked Mineral Colza, manufactured by CHARLES PRATT & Co., of New York City, has been tested by me with the following result: It has a Fire Test of 328° Fahrenheit. It does not ignite under 328° F.

Report of Inspector of Petroleum Oil, for State of Massachusetts.

BOSTON, October 4th 1876.

[COPY.]

I have tested samples of Pratt's Mineral Colza Oil, from CHARLES PRATT & Co., New York City, and find the igniting point or Fire Test to be 316° Fahrenheit. (Signed) R. F. MEANS, Mass. State Inspector of Petroleum.

Report on Sample of Mineral Colza Oil, Tested for U. S. Inspector of Steamers 2d District.

NEW YORK, April 25th, 1876.

[COPY.]

MR. ADDISON LOW, U. S. Sub. Inspector.

DEAR SIR: We have tested the sample of Mineral Colza Oil presented by you, and find it stands a Fire Test of 300° Fahrenheit, and we consider it in all respects a very superior Oil.

(Signed) LOCKWOOD, BROS. & HOLLY,
Petroleum Inspectors appointed by N. Y. City Produce Exchange.

To the Trade.

The undersigned beg to call your attention to all of the above, and thus advise you that they will at all times have a full supply of the above mentioned goods on hand, and would be pleased to have your orders.

THE PAPYROGRAPH

IS AN EXTRAORDINARY INVENTION FOR printing copies by the thousands from a single autograph writing or drawing. From one writing by this process a thousand permanent fac similes impressions of circulars, price lists, specifications, examination papers, assessment notices, etc., may be printed in an ordinary copying press, upon any description of paper. Copies may be taken direct from the writing without any of the usual operations of inking, rolling, transferring or typesetting. A proof impression may be produced within five minutes after a manuscript has been completed, and he afterwards multiplied at the rate of five hundred an hour, at an infinitesimal cost.

One Thousand Copies

May be produced from a single sheet of Papyrograph Paper, and a single application of color, at an expense of four cents. It possesses over printing the advantages of an Autograph Letter, besides admitting of illustrations without the expense of wood cuts. It allows autograph letters to pass through the mail as third class matter. It is invaluable to any business. It can be seen in operation at the office of the agent for Oregon.
